This workshop is targeted to participants with previous training and experience using MI in helping professions. Newer users of MI may struggle to participate fully in practice exercises for this workshop so we encourage you to seek a different experience if you are brand new to MI. If you are in doubt, we are happy to discuss this with you individually via email or an online meeting. We encourage international applicants, while recognizing that this workshop requires a facile working knowledge of English and accommodation to time differences.

Some of the topics we will cover in this workshop:

- Offering complex reflections: how to do it; how to teach it
- Cultivating Change Talk: Advanced methods for encouraging change talk from clients
- Expression of Empathy versus Softening Sustain Talk: How to hit the balance
- Neutrality: When and how to maintain neutrality in people's dilemmas
- Supervising MI: A primer on what we know and deliberate practice approaches to help
- MI in Groups: How is it the same, how is it different?
- MI in your system: What changes are possible?
- Interpersonal Skills in MI (and elsewhere!)
- New material from the upcoming 4th Edition of MI book

Virtual Platform Participation:

This training will be conducted virtually from 9:00 am to 3:30 pm (Mountain Time) daily, with a break for lunch at 12:00 pm. Some online workshops feature mostly didactic lectures, but not this one. We will be using demonstration, discussion and interpersonal exercises as well as didactic lectures on the newest MI content. Participants will practice skills with each other several times on both days. It is important that registrants be prepared to attend the entire session both days and give their attention as they would for an in-person workshop. In keeping with this approach, our CEU sponsor requires that cameras be on during the workshop. We know that life happens during online meetings, so we respectfully request your sincere efforts to be present and ready to work during this workshop. If you cannot meet these requirements, we look forward to seeing you in a face to face training soon. Questions? Feel free to contact us.
